

Experimental Artists Network [Berlin]

[currently under construction]

The Experimental Artists Network is a global network of people. It will bring together experimental artists, virtually on this website and in 'real' space here in Berlin. It is not a social network. It is a real network of real people who support, inspire and respect each other. It is about the exchange of ideas and options within an anti-hierarchical environment. It is not a curator-driven space.

The artists of the Experimental Artists Network are individual, independent and self-determined.

The Experimental Artists Network is not about money, celebrity or institutionalized glory. It forms a new, independent and anti-hierarchical planet as a counterpoint to the institutionalized and hermetic artworld/urban space. Resisting (refuse to accept) the neoliberal transformations (the so-called development) of the metropolitan region. Resisting the shrinking of public urban space. Resisting the logics of expulsion, displacement and dislocation. Creating countersystems.

Phase one - building the Experimental Artists Network using the website lichtensteiger.net, email communication and snail mail.

Phase two - [2016] to prepare the first Experimental Artists Network exhibition. This exhibition will take place as a 3 day event in a real/analog location in Berlin.

You can become a member of the Experimental Artists Network by invitation only.
